CEPT Principer (1)

- The ITRs should contain high level strategic and policy issues concerning international telecommunications services and facilities (and conversely should not contain technical and technology issues appropriate for Recommendations and other lower level instruments):
- The provisions should be flexible and sufficiently broad to apply over time;
- Overlaps with the CS/CV should be minimized;

CEPT Principer (2)

- The existing basic structure of the ITRs should be maintained;
- Commitments made should be those which it is appropriate for Administrations to make at treaty level; and
- The rights of telecoms operators and service providers to exercise commercial choice and to have operational and technology freedom in providing international telecommunications services and facilities should be safeguarded.
